

Mama Z's
Recipes + Garden + DIY

EVERYDAY TIPS FOR ABUNDANT LIVING

Window Sill Gardening (Part 3)

Welcome to part 3 of Window Sill Gardening with the Abundant Life Tidbits. I'm Mama Z. And today we're going to talk about rooting from hydroponics.

If you've ever had the best tasting basil from Whole Foods or from your farmer's market, and it was in a root clump done by a hydroponic and you thought, "I wish I could duplicate that at home," you can.

Make sure you don't use all of the basil that's on the plant. And you will want to put the root clump in a glass of water, changing it out every day. Once the roots have filled the entire cup, then you are going to transition to dirt.

So each and every sprig will need its own dirt. And then once you do that, we'll have to then transition to outside.

Join me on our next video as we root a pineapple.